

Mugal Rule in Bengal

Time period: 1610 - 1757

Ruling system:

- i. Rule of Subadar.
- ii. Rule of Nawabs.

Major Subadar in Bengal:

- i. Aslam Khan
- ii. Kasem Khan Jini
- iii. Shah Suya
- iv. Mir Jumla
- v. Shayesta Khan
- vi. Murshidkuli Khan

Contribution of Subadar ~~in~~ Bengal:

- * Subadars were ~~are~~ crucial in maintaining order and managing military administration.
- * ii. They served as go-betweens, helping British officers communicate with native soldiers.
- iii. Subadars led troops, oversaw training and ensured

~~iv~~
discipline in the ranks.

iv. They knew Bengal well, understanding local culture, customs and geography.

v. Subadars contributed to military strategies with their local insights.

+vi. They played a role in gathering intelligence for military purposes.

+vii. Subadar helped establish effective communication channels within the military.

Major Nawabs in Bengal

- i. Mureshid Quli Khan
- ii. Alivardi Khan
- iii. Siraj-ud-~~Durr~~ Daulah
- iv. Some of the Nawabs of Bengal

Contribution of Nawabs in Bengal:

1. The Nawabs significantly boosted Bengal's economy by fostering trade and commerce.
2. They contributed to the development of Bengali literature, music and architecture.
3. They invested in the development of infrastructure.
4. They played a role in maintaining political stability in Bengal.
5. Nawabs strengthened the military, ensuring the protection and defence.